

Subject: German

Level: A Level

Entry Requirements

Grade 6 or above in German GCSE

Course Outline – AQA Examination Board

We will develop your ability to use German in both speech and writing. You will have weekly German conversation one to one with a teacher or native speaker. Our students are almost always able to speak German well by the end of the course so you will leave us with a really useful skill.

What will I learn on this course?

You will learn to communicate confidently and imaginatively in German through both the spoken and written word and gain insight into the contemporary society and culture of Germany and German speaking countries. You will be in a good position to undertake further, advanced study of German or make practical use of German in employment.

Who would make a successful student of German?

This course will appeal to students who would enjoy the challenge of speaking to native speakers of German in their own language. You should also enjoy taking part in in depth discussions, expressing your opinions and justifying these in debate. You may be considering further study or working in another European country.

Extra Curricular Activities

In the past these have included work experience in Germany and a one day conference conducted entirely in German. You would be welcome to help us with lower school language lessons and MFL club.

Career Opportunities

A modern language is a truly useful ancillary skill for a wide range of businesses. Most interpreters and translators are people who work for a company and have knowledge of a foreign language, rather than professionals.

You will also find this course useful if you wish to follow a career in travel and tourism, marketing, public relations, European administration or law, teaching, interpreting and translating or journalism. Opportunities in the workplace are increasingly being opened up for those who can combine any subject or skill with a modern foreign language. Employers are very keen to recruit languages graduates.

Course Structure

Students study technological and social change, looking at diversity and the benefits it brings. They will study highlights of German-speaking artistic culture, including German music and cinema, and learn about political engagement and who wields political power in the German-speaking world.

Students also explore the influence of the past on present-day German-speaking communities. Throughout their studies, they will learn the language in the context of German-speaking countries and the issues and influences which have shaped them. Students will study texts and film and have the opportunity to carry out independent research on an area of their choice.

Assessment tasks will be varied and cover listening, speaking, reading and writing skills. Each skill is assessed at the end of the course in a terminal examination.

A Level consists of modules centred on the following topic areas:

- Aspects of German-speaking society: current trends and issues
- Multiculturalism in the German-speaking society
- Artistic culture in the German-speaking world
- Aspects of political life in the German-speaking world
- Grammar

These will include discussions about:

- Family
- Music and Television
- Fashion and Trends
- Technology
- Festivals and traditions
- Art and Architecture
- Politics and Youth
- German reunification and its consequences
- Immigration, Integration, Racism
- Germany and the EU
- Cultural life in Berlin

Students will be invited to present, discuss and take a clear stance on any issue of their choice, demonstrating their skills in advanced-level German.

Students will also show evidence of independent, advanced-level German language reading and research of a chosen text, play, film or topic area that links to the culture and/or society of a German speaking country or community.
