The female are certainly elegant but very good in the battle field. The male are also elegant, but unlike females, who have pink horns, males have green horns, but they are also good in the battle field.

The females eggs are one of the most beautiful. being rainbow Ombre with gold spots.

When this species are trained, they are the most loyal dragon out there, they will defend and protect you with their life, however, quite the opposite if they arent trained/tamed.
